Letters from

My mistake

Editor:

On Nov. 19 you published a letter from me, "Contesting for state power," which critiqued the Charlevoix Democrats for not acting as a political organization. Among other things, I said they had run no one for county office since 2000, except for 2002 when they nominated a commissioner candidate who did not campaign.

I was wrong. They had another candidate, Mike Webster, who ran a rigorous campaign for commissioner this fall. I am in a different district and it escaped my notice. I apologize.
